New Year! New You! (Afternoon session w/ Break)

Marie Powell, CGUS Business Faculty

Start the new year by defining and creating your “personal brand.” Be part of this interactive workshop that will help you discover and project the real you, using fun quizzes, role-playing, assessments and PowerPoint (of the “not boring” variety). This two-part workshop will include an overview of the difference between goals and dreams, a review of personal values, creating a short list of realistic personal and career goals, anticipating roadblocks, a powerful strategy for success, the roles of clutter and rewards in success, and learning to relax…chill. Learn to achieve more by being more “you.”

Faculty — Teaching CCE-2

C. Edward Watson, Ph.D.

Parts I & II - “Flipping the Classroom: Ideas and Strategies Grounded in What We Know about Learning”, Well-designed flipped activities can prove to be an effective and rewarding instructional strategy that increases students’ time engaged in course material and can result in deeper learning. Participants will leave this session with a draft action plan regarding how they might implement a flipped approach within one of their own courses.

Faculty — Clinics CCE-127

Ron LeFebvre, MA, DC

Professor in the clinical education department at the University of Western States (UWS), has been appointed the first executive director of the Consortium of Evidence-Informed Practice Educators (CEIPE). He will be discussing leadership, training, and support with our faculty clinicians to help preparing our students with the skills, knowledge and attitudes which are necessary to deliver evidenced-informed health care.

COC Faculty Technique Meeting — CCE-149

Dr. Ed Owens, Dr. Brent Russell and Dr. Ron Hosek will present a project that involves measurements of adjustment force and force feedback for the technique lab. The goal is to have the technique faculty members see the devices and data in order to give feedback. This information is background to the efforts to produce several educational devices and techniques for classroom use.
