NOTES On The Program: Title IX Training
Mr. Johnathan Poole

Title IX is a comprehensive federal law that prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in any federally funded education program or activity. In the United States Title IX was signed on June 23, 1972 by President Richard Nixon with the intention of prohibiting gender based discrimination by institutions that receive federal money. “No person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving federal financial assistance.”
