GEORGIA CHIROPRACTIC ASSOCIATION WELCOMES LIFE UNIVERSITY GRADUATES TO BOARD OF DIRECTORS

-Press Release via GCA

Marietta, Georgia, August 14, 2018 – The Georgia Chiropractic Association (GCA) has welcomed three new members to its board of directors, all Life University graduates and one Life University employee.

Dr. Noel Steinle (class of 1986) and Dr. Ben McDowell (class of 2013) assumed their new role with the association on July 1, 2018. Dr. Dawn Barton Cadwallader (class of 1996), currently the director of development at Life University, also assumed the role of director on July 1.

“We’re so fortunate to have these three highly successful chiropractors join our board,” said GCA President Dr. Leana Kart. Kart is also a 1987 Life University graduate and a current member of the University’s Board of Trustees.

Also re-elected to the board was Dr. Karen Mathiak (class of 1984).

“All of our new board members bring their unique perspectives to our association at a time when we’re focused on growing membership,” Kart added. “Their talents and work ethic are much appreciated, and I look forward to them helping us improve GCA.”

Georgians can find a GCA chiropractor near them by visiting gachiro.org and clicking ‘Find a Chiropractor.’

The Georgia Chiropractic Association promotes a pain-free Georgia. The association has been protecting the health and wellness of patients since 1912 by promoting the rights of Georgia Doctors of Chiropractic to practice within the entire scope of their education and training.
