

ATTENTION: Life University Community

Important Information Regarding Life University's On-Campus Class Suspension

Life University has updated the COVID-19 web page with important and critical planning information for students, faculty and staff. Visit LIFE.edu/coronavirus and make sure to read all FAQ information.

All faculty and staff should plan to report as normally scheduled Monday morning, March 16 unless you hear differently from your supervisor or Vice President. Those normally scheduled to work remotely will continue to do so.

Students should not report to campus, as on-campus classes and student-related activities are suspended as of close of business Friday, March 13 and through Sunday, March 29. Students taking online courses and students whose academic programs are exclusively online will continue those courses and programs during this on-campus class suspension period.